

This is the bus topology, very commonly used in LAN networks like this. It is easy to add and connect components into the network.